Le gout cest tout –
The taste is everything

Be it tapas on an outdoor terrace or a fully-appointed feast in our oceanfront dining room, Moana cuisine is prepared to the most exacting of personal tastes and desires by our own, award-winning private chef. Arguably one of the most charming rooms in the house, Moana's main kitchen is a splendid recreation of 18th century France. Step down into its warmth and discover Languedoc marble basins and work surfaces, walk-in cold storage, and French antique cabinetry emblazoned with a splendid coat of arms, in which is housed a full array of restaurant-quality equipment. Moana also offers a fully stocked wine cellar, lifts for fast, discreet service, and in another wing of the house, a second fully-appointed family kitchen for those who just cannot resist creating their own fresh, Mediterranean masterpieces.
